

ÍCONES

Basics for Academic Writing Abstracts

66

... there are opportunities for Australian designers to have a positive effect through selecting textiles and finishes with a lower environmental and social impact.

(Payne 2011, 241)

99

Great quote

ORIGINAL QUOTE

66

... there are opportunities for Australian designers to have a positive effect through selecting textiles and finishes with a lower environmental and social impact.

99

(Payne 2011, 241)

PARAPHRASE

There are many ways for Australian designers to have a good effect on the industry through selecting fabric and finishes with less harm on the environment and society.

(Payne 2011, 241)

ORIGINAL QUOTE

66

... there are opportunities for Australian designers to have a positive effect through selecting textiles and finishes with a lower environmental and social impact.

99

(Payne 2011, 241)

PARAPHRASE

Through choosing finishes and materials that are less harmful for society and the environment, Australian designers have the opportunity to positively affect the fashion industry.

(Payne 2011, 241)

ORIGINAL QUOTE

66

... there are opportunities for Australian designers to have a positive effect through selecting textiles and finishes with a lower environmental and social impact.

99

(Payne 2011, 241)

PARAPHRASE

There are positive flow-on effects for the environment, industry and textile consumption practices when Australian designers incorporate sustainable materials and processes into their work.

(Payne 2011, 241)

ÍCONES

Basics for Academic Writing Abstracts

01

Read the passage and be sure that you comprehend what is being said.

02

Summarize what is said in the message with own words. You are supposed to keep the technical terms and proper names the same.

03

Look at the original version and check if you wrote about the important information in a truly new way. Make sure you have not plagiarized or have repeated the same words.

04

If you have a sentence that looks exactly like the original one you can re-phrase it or you can use quotation marks to indicate that it comes from the source.

05

You can use a thesauru to check for synonyms in case you still have some words that are the same as the original text.

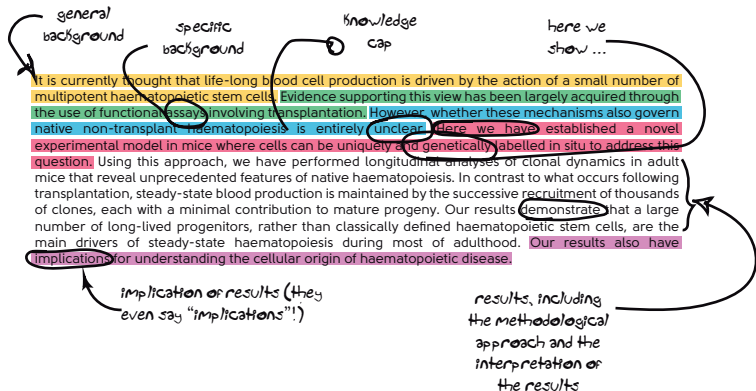

06

When you are done, open brackets and cite the source.

ARTICLE

Clonal dynamics of native haematopoiesis

HOW TO CHOOSE THE BEST KEYWORDS FOR YOUR RESEARCH PAPER

- 01 Make sure to follow any instructions your target journal provides regarding keywords.
- 02 Think about what terms you would use to search for papers related to your topic.
- 03 Choose keyword phrases that comprise two to four words.
- 04 Avoid using terms already presents in your title, particularly if your journal says not to include them.
- 05 Keywords should indicate the general subject matter; however, they should not be too broad.
- 06 If your research revolves around a key method or technique, make sure the term for it is located either in your title or your keywords.
- 07 Think of generally used alternate terms to ones found in your title.
- 08 Test your keywords before submitting your paper.
- 09 Use Keywords generators with caution.

ÍCONES

Basics for Academic Writing Abstracts

Imagens desenvolvidas por Fagner Andrade

Basics for Academic Writing Abstracts

ÍCONES

Basics for Academic Writing Abstracts

Imagens desenvolvidas por Fagner Andrade

Basics for Academic Writing Abstracts

